A BRIEF REPORT

The Workshop was conducted by "Kathalay" an organization that introduced story and Puppets not merely for narrating tales but imparting academics learning skills through the same.

The first session in the morning was from 10.am to 11.30 Mr. Ola Henriçsson from Sweden started with a self introduction. He is an academician and has excelled the art of story telling. He reaches out to several small towns in Sweden and his always been welcomed by children.

Stories entrance language development: helps to develop communication skills: helps the listener to emote with the characters in the story. A good story teller should be able to capture the listener's mind emotionally. Socially and enable him to recall and retell in sequence. We heard three stories.

1. Mother cat. 2. The Tramp and the farmer 3. The Spider and the turtle.

All the three stories were different they were not merely folk tales but brought in regular curriculum learning into it.

The Story should be formatted to explain a topic in History: Science: Moral values and have an activity to complete it.

Mr. Ola Henricsson had all of us listening to him with rapt attention although his English wasn't very fluent.
