A BRIEF REPORT.

World Environment Day Celebration At Hanuman Tekdi

As Warren Buffet so rightly said, "Someone's sitting in the shade today because someone planted a tree a long time ago." Keeping this in mind, we celebrate World Environment day on June 5th each year to protect our environment and preserve it's sanctity. it is celebrated in a variety of ways like having street rallies, bicycles parades, green concerts, essay and poster competitions in schools, recycling efforts, clean-up campaigns and much more. This year, the students of the Bishops Schools had a great agenda planned. We were to go to the Hanuman Tekdi hill and plant saplings.

The day dawned bright and clear. Around 25 students from Bishop's Kalyani Nagar left school around 11 o'clock along with two teachers. We were joined by students from the Environment friends club of Bishop's Camp, and by students from the Bishop's School, Undri. Finally, we reached the hill, which was green and grassy with the many trees that had been planted here by generations of school and college students. It felt great to be out in open, in the grassy surroundings, with a light breeze blowing about. After a short trek, we reached the top of the hill, where we were explained how to use the various implements and about which trees suited what type of soil. Then, we split into groups and some of us spread out to find good spots to plant the saplings that we had brought along, while the others rest of us filled up water from the nearby reservoirs and went about watering the many plants that dotted the area. As we worked, we could see the spire of the nearby temple hidden in the greenery, and the panoramic view of the city stretching out in front of us. We had a great time, learning and enjoying ourselves to the fullest. All too soon, it was time to leave. It made me proud to be a part of the program. I realized, the future is in our hands, and what we make of our planet is entirely up to us. I'm also very grateful to our teachers and Headmaster, for making this possible, and providing us with this enriching experience.
