A BRIEF REPORT

The Times NIE Newsmakers' Meet was held on the 12th of October. The venue was the hall at Bhartiya Vidya Bhavan School. Two students from each school had to be present at the meet. Karn Vijra and Manish Chugani represented The Bishop's School, Undri. It began with each student getting a questionnaire of 15 quiz questions, related to the current affairs of the world and a picture on which a report of about 200 words was to be written. The questionnaire was answered by all the students and time flew by very quickly. At the end of the stipulated time, the sheets were collected and then the answers to the quiz questions given in the paper were discussed. A very exciting quiz it was indeed. Thereafter, just before the "Press Conference" began, a short quiz was conducted to amuse the audience and increase their knowledge. Then, the stage was taken over by the famous personalities of Mr. Deepak Dalal, the Chemical Engineer turned wildlife conservationist and Mrs. Annie Thomas, the editor of the Times NIE newspaper. Students were encouraged to ask questions about wildlife and the newspaper.

A lot of amusing questions sprung up like "What is the relation between a student and a wild animal?", "Why do wild animals attack humans?" The questions addressed to the editor were rather interestingly thought out, for example, "How does the editor decide which material is appropriate to be printed in the paper?" "What is the source of all this information?" Were the main questions asked of the editor. The answers from these experienced personalities were quite mature and enriched our knowledge. It was told to us that the Times NIE concept was brought to India by Nandita Jain and it was a revelation that Times NIE is the 'Number One', newspaper in the world today. The meet was quite a new experience for all those budding journalists present and for quite a few years they will remember it.
