A BRIEF REPORT .

The English elocution competition, held on the 8th of October was an eagerly awaited event with participants of all four houses training for it, fervently. Besides poems, this year the students also recited passages form the Shakespearean classics such as Julius Caesar and As You Like It. This was highly appreciated and encouraged by the judges. The results were surprising as there was a tie for the position of the best speaker and it was awarded to 2 participants, Joanna Sam and Vedika Iyer, followed by Tushar Chand in the position of second runner up.

The house positions were as follows.

1. Roberts house.
2. Cooper house
3. Freese house.
4. Lunn house.
